

This year's Coastal Cleanup Month takes place in decentralized fashion

NORTHCOST ENVIRONMENTAL CENTER
HUMBOLDT – The Environmental Services Department invites the community to participate in Coastal Cleanup Month this September.

For over 40 years, the Northcoast Environmental Center (NEC) has coordinated Coastal Cleanup Day to help keep our neighborhoods and coastlines clean.

This year, the NEC will continue their new tradition of Coastal Cleanup Month, where community members can participate in cleanup events in Arcata and throughout Humboldt County the entire month of September.

Participants have the option to host their own private cleanup with friends and family or attend an outdoor Community Cleanup event, and those who wish to volunteer can sign up by clicking here.

Coastal Cleanup Month also serves as an opportunity to collect data about the trash collected on local streets and beaches to find local waste patterns, so waste reduction solutions can be implemented in the community.

Every volunteer who reports what trash they find and where they find it during their cleanup will be entered into a weekly raffle to win fun prizes.

The NEC approaches Coastal Cleanup Month with zero-waste principles, meaning that no new plastic products will be used, and the NEC will instead offer reusable cleanup supplies to all volunteers.

plies to all volunteers.

The City of Arcata is striving to achieve zero waste, and has adopted Zero Waste Action Plan, which is a 10-year plan that identifies various waste prevention, reuse and recycling practices residents can use to practice in their daily lives.

For more information on Coastal Cleanup Month, please visit yournec.org/coastalcleanupmonth or email ivyneccmail@gmail.com.

Vaccination now mandatory for staff, students at College of the Redwoods

Exemption for religious beliefs

COLLEGE OF THE REDWOODS
EUREKA – On Saturday, the College of the Redwoods Board of Trustees approved Resolution 782 authorizing the president/superintendent to implement a mandatory vaccination policy for the College of the Redwoods community.

“We have tried different ways to encourage our employees and students to get vaccinated. However, with the rapid and alarming rise of local infections, hospitalization and deaths, and with the number of people in our area who have refused to get vaccinated, regardless of the science underlying the vaccines, it was clearly time for the college to institute a mandate,” said CR President Keith Flamer.

The policy requires all employees and student workers to show proof of vaccination by Sept. 30 2021,

Additionally, all students will be required to be vaccinated by the beginning of the Spring 2022 semester, unless they are attending CR remotely and will not be on campus for any face-to-face instruction or student services.

CR will also allow exceptions for medical reasons, disability, or sincerely held religious beliefs.

The board's action was taken at the recommendation of President Flamer and was guided by recommendations from the Humboldt County Department of Public Health, California Department of Public Health and the CDC, stating that vaccination is the most effective way available to prevent and mitigate transmission, and limit COVID-19 hospitalizations and deaths.

“The Board of Trustees does not take this decision lightly,” said Danny Kelly, president of the CR Board. “Unfortunately, given the alarming rate of COVID surge and breakthrough cases in our region we must take decisive action immediately to maintain a safe and healthy learning environment for our students.”

The college is aware that some individuals may be reluctant to receive the vaccine. To help dispel some myths and to explain the science behind the COVID-19 mRNA vaccine and the FDA approval process, listen to the latest episode of the CR Podcast, “What’s the Issue with...Vaccines” with CR microbiology professor Dr. Diqui LaPenta and nursing professor Melody Pope.

- Click “Find Maps.” This will open up a map based on your device’s location.
- Select the “List” button.
- Type “Arcata” in the search box.
- Choose the Arcata map of your choice to download.
- Downloading and installing maps may take a few minutes, and Wifi is suggested to complete this step.

Seamus, shelter superstar

We have some exciting news this week. Redwood Pals has a movie star!

Almost three years ago now two dogs were found on Highway 36 on a cold and snowy day. A female border collie was down at the highway when a kind woman spotted her and tried to help her. For some reason the dog wouldn’t come over and kept running back up the hill. Finally the woman was able to make out a brown dog camouflaged up on the rocky hillside. The border collie wouldn’t leave without him and the brown dog couldn’t get down.

interest in him but no takers until the day we got a call from a Hollywood trainer! She had seen his photo and was very interested. We sent more photos and some videos and before we knew it, she was headed up to get him!

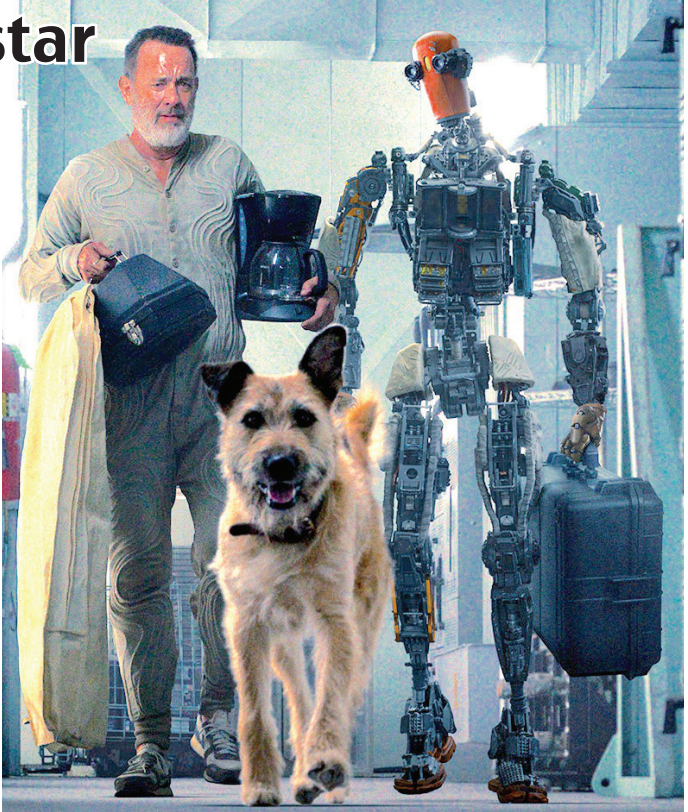

She drove up one day, we met and had dinner and the next morning she came to the shelter and loaded him up for the long trip back to LA. There’s lots more to this story, but I’ll save some for another day.

Seamus had many adventures but the biggest was landing a major role in a movie with Tom Hanks. We were sworn to secrecy until the movie was announced, never anticipating the pandemic and the effect that would have on Seamus’s film Finch.

Finally there is a release date, November 5 of this year! In Finch, a man, a robot and a dog form an unlikely family in a post-apocalyptic world as the man tries to ensure that his beloved canine companion will be cared for after he’s gone. Definitely something dog-lovers can relate to.

As exciting as this all is, the real story for us is that a rescue dog that was considered potentially unadoptable went on to charm everyone he met and made a name for himself.

Which of our other rescues is a diamond in the rough? The 120-pound mastiff who is a handful on a walk but can make us laugh when he goes under and over the little agility hurdles in the playyard?

The dog that was dumped at the shelter (yes, you saw that in the news) who is too loud in his kennel but passed every test Fern could put him through – taking toys from his mouth, being humped, playing hard?

The little scaredy Chihuahua that will barely look at the people who come to meet her but who is a happy little clown for us?

Seamus’s story keeps us going on days that we might otherwise be discouraged.

Gypsy

One of the dogs we are currently working with is Gypsy. She is about a year old and is some kind of hound mix.

Gypsy loves other dogs and is a great player. She hasn’t had much training and we don’t really know anything about her background but she is eager to learn and wants to make people happy.

One of her favorite games is to be in the yard with two of us and go back and forth as we call her to come. She learned so quickly to sit on her approach instead of jumping up on us.

She loves to be pet and is very alert for anything that will earn her some attention. She needs to keep working on her leash manners, but we think that will continue to improve as we learn more about what motivates her. This pup is definitely another diamond in the rough!

Contact Redwood Pals at redwoodpalsrescue@gmail.com or leave a message at (707) 633-8842 for more information or to meet Gypsy.

COVID | Unvaccinated people make up majority of COVID-19 hospitalizations

But during an Aug. 26 virtual news conference, county health officials said additional health care staffing is in the process of being secured as the local situation grows alarmingly intense.

“We know where we’re at right now is the worst that it’s been,” said Public Health Director Sofia Pereira.

People in their 30s and 40s and younger are getting seriously ill and hospitalized, a trend associated with the rise of the Delta variant. Hoffman said unvaccinated people make up the majority of hospitalizations and account for all of those in the younger age groups.

But the timespan of vaccine protection is more limited than originally believed. Hoffman urged residents who have medical conditions to get booster vaccine doses.

The recommendation is for booster doses eight months after vaccination. The U.S. is preparing to launch a definitive booster dose program in mid-September but the president has been briefed on the need for third shots of mRNA vaccines five months after second shots.

Delta spread accelerated in California last spring, coinciding with the statewide reopening on June 15. As COVID-19 restrictions were lifted, Delta took off.

Now that re-opening is established, reinstating restrictions appears to be an impractical option.

A county mask-wearing mandate went into effect on Aug. 7 but if businesses and organizations want additional protection, they have to mandate it themselves.

During last week’s supervisors meeting, Hoffman said businesses are closing anyway, due to employees being sick or in quarantine.

“We hear, every day, lots of stories of businesses not able to maintain being open because of staffing issues,” he said. “It’s not that public health is shutting them down, they don’t have enough staff to remain open.”

Hoffman also worries for “some of the schools that have lower vaccination rates and higher (case) numbers in their communities” and said they “might be facing the same thing very soon.”

When vaccines were first released, a can-do attitude was shared by health officials on all levels. But the surprisingly powerful contagiousness of the Delta variant prompts uncertainty about the pandemic’s future.

“COVID-19 has proven to be a formidable opponent and it is safe to say everyone is exhausted,” Hoffman told supervisors.

From Aug. 21 to Aug. 26, 428 new COVID-19 cases were confirmed by the county.

More than 100 additional case confirmations were estimated on Aug. 27, with their database logging delayed “due to further reductions in state-assigned staff and reassignment of local staff to contact tracing and vaccination efforts,” according to a county press release.

Last week’s case counts, hospitalizations and deaths continue a trend of unprecedented disease escalation.

There were 10 COVID-19 deaths last week, including residents in their 20s and 30s, and a fully-vaccinated resident in their 70s. Six of the deaths were reported on Aug. 27, the county’s highest-ever daily toll.

There were 15 hospitalizations, across a range of age groups.

As the grim month of August neared its end, 52 percent of the county’s population was fully-vaccinated.

What deputies discovered after interrupting an industrious lad’s hard-earned nap will shock you!

HUMBOLDT COUNTY SHERIFF’S OFFICE
HUMBOLDT – On Aug. 23 at about 12:18 p.m., Humboldt County Sheriff’s deputies on patrol in the Blue Lake area conducted a suspicious vehicle investigation at a gas station on the 200 block of Blue Lake Boulevard. Deputies approached the vehicle and observed the driver, 35-year-old Matthew Loren Wells, asleep inside.

Wells was found to have an outstanding warrant for his arrest and was taken into custody.

The vehicle was not registered to Wells and a search was conducted.

During a search of the vehicle, deputies located burglary tools, drug paraphernalia, ID cards belonging to multiple Humboldt State University students, two laundry-machine coin storage containers filled with coins, and other suspected stolen items.

Through further investigation, deputies learned that the vehicle in Well’s possession had been stolen from a student sometime over the weekend and was in the process of being reported as stolen to the Humboldt State University Police Department.

Additionally, deputies learned that the Arcata Police Department was investigating a burglary involving an apartment laundry facility.

Due to all evidence gathered during this investigation, it is believed Wells is responsible for the burglaries occurring at Humboldt State University and the apartment laundry facility, in addition to an attempted burglary of a laundromat in Blue Lake.

Wells was booked into the Humboldt County Correctional Facility on charges of burglary, vehicle theft, possession of stolen property, possession of burglary tools, possession of a stolen vehicle, possession of a controlled substance paraphernalia and shoplifting, in addition to warrant charges of vehicle theft, felon in possession of a firearm, possession of a narcotic controlled substance and driving on a suspended/revoked license. Anyone with information about this case or is believed to have had property stolen by Wells is encouraged to call the Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office at (707) 445-7251 or the Sheriff’s Office Crime Tip line at (707) 268-2539.

HCSO looking for senior scam suspect

HUMBOLDT COUNTY SHERIFF’S OFFICE
HUMBOLDT – The Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office is seeking information regarding the location of a suspect wanted for carrying out a scheme to scam an elderly resident out of thousands of dollars.

On Aug. 19 at about 5:20 p.m., Humboldt County Sheriff’s deputies were dispatched to a McKinleyville residence for a fraud investigation. There, deputies contacted a 92-year-old victim who told deputies that she had been scammed out of almost $10,000 by a man claiming to be a contractor.

The suspect, identified through further investigation as 44-year-old Shanadoa Wayne Johnson, reportedly contacted the victim at her residence earlier this week.

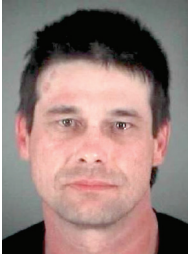

Johnson reportedly told the victim that he had taken over his deceased father’s contracting business and that Johnson’s father worked on the victim’s property years ago.

Johnson reportedly convinced the victim to have her driveway resurfaced and repairs done to her roof. The victim was charged almost $10,000 for these services.

Friends of the victim alerted law enforcement after inspecting the residence and realizing that while the driveway did appear to be resurfaced, Johnson did not do repairs to her roof, despite charging over $8,000 for roof repair services.

Johnson is wanted on warrants for similar crimes occurring in Oregon, Nevada and Siskiyou County.

Anyone with information regarding Johnson’s whereabouts or who may have fallen victim to Johnson’s fraudulent activities is encouraged to call the Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office at (707) 445-7251 or the Sheriff’s Office Crime Tip line at (707) 268-2539.

Christmas | ‘Such a positive experience’

All things Humboldt are included in the quilted imagery of the large skirt – dairy cows in Ferndale pastures, quail and California poppies, a bear eating blackberries, magnificent Redwood trees in all styles, a Yurok themed section including basket caps, a woven infant basket, and a Flicker and a Woodpecker, several ocean themed sections featuring all manner of sea life and lighthouses, even a section with Bigfoot as Santa and his sleigh being pulled by sequined banana slugs instead of reindeer. There is even a tribute section to our firefighters.

It’s what you could call 15 feet of love, as each quilter picked a theme of a part of Humboldt that meant the most to her. Each section of the quilted tree skirt is more amazing than the last, in use of fabrics to enhance the design, in the variety of quilt stitches, in the choice of colors, and in the wide variety of designs themselves from the very traditional to the wildest quilter’s dream. Naturally, all the stitching was perfect. “The ladies went all out,” Freese said. “For the short amount of time they had, they did an incredible job.”

The two smaller 12-foot skirts are also under construction. Stimson explained that she had down-loaded posters of Smokey the Bear and Woodsy Owl off the web. Then she had them made into fabric. “It’s Woodsy’s 50th birthday,” she said. That skirt featured fabrics appropriate to forests and many of Smokey’s rules.

Smokey Bear (his proper name) has been appearing on posters, postage stamps, radio, and television since 1944. A wide range of celebrities including Rod Serling, Ray Charles, Barbara Mandrell, and Ted Nugent have made commercials for Smokey. Woodsy Owl (“Give a Hoot, Don’t Pollute”) has been inspiring kids since 1971. His updated slogan is “Lend a Hand, Care for the Land.”

Each segment has the name of the quilter on the back. Stimson is putting together a booklet on the making of the quilted sections. Each page will have information about the quilter and her design. “We hope to display the quilted skirts at our 2023 quilt show,” she said. The tree skirts are done but the Six Rivers Forest has extended the deadline for handmade ornaments to September 15. Last week their website announced that they were halfway to their goal of 15,000 ornaments. Drop off locations from Crescent City to Weaverville as well as a mailing address can be found at uscapitolchristmastree.com/ornament-tree-skirt-drop-offs/. Linda West who has been retired from Six Rivers “for seven years” is volunteering on the ornament project. She also volunteers at the Boys and Girls Club of the Redwoods where the kids have been making ornaments. “It’s just such a positive experience for Humboldt County,” she said. “We’ve been doing Bigfoot ornaments,” she said. “I think that’s going to be a big hit.” West is planning to travel to the Capitol to see the trees when they are up and decorated. To see the trees on their whistle stop trip in late October through Humboldt County, watch for local announcements or check the website, uscapitolchristmastree.com.

Man convicted of multiple charges regarding 2019 kidnapping incident

HUMBOLDT COUNTY DISTRICT ATTORNEY
HUMBOLDT – District Attorney Maggie Fleming announced that on Monday, Aug. 23, a Humboldt County jury found Richard Avery Dorey Jr. guilty of kidnapping, inflicting corporal injury on the mother of his child, criminal threats, vandalism and disobeying a court order.

The verdict followed a two-week trial that included testimony by several witnesses, including the essential testimony of Jane Doe.

Ms. Doe testified that on November 9, 2019 Richard Dorey, the father of her children, arrived at her mother’s house in Eureka, in violation of a civil harassment order, and damaged a door frame in an attempt to break in. Dorey left after Doe fled to a neighbor’s house and contacted law enforcement.

Later that same day, Dorey re-contacted Ms. Doe and asked her to meet him near her mother’s house and threatened to kill himself if she didn’t comply. Ms. Doe subsequently met Dorey and ultimately got into his truck to speak with him about their relationship.

Once Ms. Doe got into the truck, Dorey immediately drove away while calling her names and demanding to know who she was seeing.

While still in Eureka, Ms. Doe asked to get out of the truck, at which point the defendant told her she, “wasn’t going home,” that night.

Ms. Doe further testified that while she was trapped in the vehicle with Dorey and repeatedly asked to go home, he struck her in the face, displayed a knife while further threatening her, and drove at excessive speed.

At a point when Dorey slowed to turn onto a highway onramp north of Trinidad, Ms. Doe jumped from the vehicle and was run over by the truck’s back tires, resulting in substantial injuries.

The trial also included evidence establishing a pattern of domestic violence by Dorey dating back to at least 2011.

Deputy District Attorney Candace Myers prosecuted the case with the assistance of District Attorney Investigator Martin Morris and Victim Advocate Marybeth Bian. Defense Attorney Andrea Sullivan represented Dorey.

Judge Killoran presided over the trial. Sentencing is scheduled for Sept. 13. Mr. Dorey faces up to nine years in prison.

Audubon Society offers two perspectives on fire management

REDWOOD REGION AUDUBON SOCIETY
HUMBOLDT – Join Redwood Region Audubon Society online Friday, Sept. 10 at 7 p.m. for two presentations on local and regional fire management.

We welcome Margo Robbins, who will present “Traditional Fire Practices in a Contemporary Context” and Lenya Quinn-Davidson who will discuss “Bringing Prescribed Fire Back to the People.”

Margo Robbins is executive director of the Cultural Fire Management Council (CFMC), a 501 (c)(3) organization located on the upper Yurok Reservation in far Northern California, and co-founder and co-lead of the Indigenous People's Burn Network (IPBN), will discuss how these two entities are helping tribes revive their traditional burn practices.

The IPBN is a support network led by Native American people who are revitalizing their traditional fire cultures in a contemporary context. The long-term goal of the IPBN is to assist indigenous nations across the U.S. and abroad to reclaim their traditional fire regimes.

Cultural practitioners of the Yurok, Hoopa and Karuk tribes, in collaboration with The Nature Conservancy piloted this project which culminated in the creation of the Yurok, Hoopa, Karuk Healthy Country Plan which outlines a pathway for the three tribes to reclaim their traditional burn practices.

The CFMC is in the process of implementing the strategies outlined in the Yurok, Hoopa, Karuk Healthy Country Plan which include 1) Establish a family-led burn program, 2) Build local capacity, 3) Initiate Collaborative burning and learning opportunities, 4) Strengthen state and federal support of cultural burning.

The mission of the Cultural Fire Management Council is “to facilitate the practice of cultural burning on the Yurok Reservation and Ancestral lands, which will lead to a healthier ecosystem for all plants and animals, long term fire protection for residents, and provide a platform that will in turn support the traditional hunting and gathering activities of Yurok.”

Their long-term goal is to fully reclaim our sovereign right to use fire as a tool to restore Yurok ancestral territory to a healthy, viable ecosystem that supports the cultural lifeways of Yurok people

The CFMC has several strategies for achieving these goals. These include ongoing implementation of a cultural burn fire program, strengthening state and federal support of cultural burning, building local capacity, public outreach about good fire, and intergenerational transfer of knowledge.

Margo graduated from Humboldt State University in 1987. Margo comes from the traditional Yurok village of Morek and is an enrolled member of the Yurok Tribe. She gathers and prepares traditional food and medicine and is a basket weaver and regalia maker. She is also the Indian Education Director for the Klamath-Trinity Joint Unified School district, a mom, and a grandma.

Lenya Quinn-Davidson, area fire advisor for the University of California Cooperative Extension, will discuss recent efforts to bring prescribed fire back into the hands of landowners, community members, and cultural practitioners throughout California.

crease biodiversity, reduce fire risk, and increase landscape and community resiliency, and recent catastrophic wildfire seasons have piqued national interest in increasing its use.

Lenya will share her community-based work in Humboldt County, as well as statewide policy and community organizing activities that are changing the face of prescribed fire throughout the West. Lenya’s primary focus is on the human connection with fire, and increasing the use of prescribed fire for habitat restoration, invasive species control, and ecosystem and community resiliency.

Lenya works on prescribed fire issues at various scales, including locally in Humboldt County, where she works with private landowners to bring fire back as a land management tool; at the state level, where she collaborates on policy and research related to prescribed fire; and nationally, through her work and leadership on prescribed fire training exchanges (TRES).

Lenya received a Bachelor of Science from UC Berkeley and a Master of Arts in Social Science from Humboldt State University. She is passionate about using prescribed fire to inspire and empower people, from rural ranchers to agency leaders to young women pursuing careers in fire management, and everyone in between.

In particular, the special tax will be used to maintain and improve the current level of community-based fire protection services provided by the District. Huffman releases 2021 Wildfire Guide, highlights programs to support fire prep and response

REP. JARED HUFFMAN

SAN RAFAEL – Congressman Jared Huffman (D-San Rafael) last week highlighted three separate initiatives to assist Californians as record-setting wildfires burn across his district and the community braces for the remainder of fire season.

Rep. Huffman released his 2021 Wildfire Resource Guide to help those affected by the recent wildfires access resources available to aid in recovery.

The Guide includes information on how to prepare for evacuation, where to find local resources, how to replace lost or destroyed federal documents, and more. Huffman also shared the news that Assistance to Firefighters Grants (AFG) and Fire Management Assistance Grants (FMAG) have been awarded to California’s Second District, which will aid in fire preparedness and response efforts.

“After a year of compounding crises, we are on the cusp of another disastrous fire season fueled by climate change and record-breaking drought. As we grapple with the impacts of these fires, I want to make sure everyone in our community has the information needed to prepare, evacuate safely if necessary, and access local and federal resources” said Rep. Huffman. “That’s why I have released this resource guide and am happy to announce these grants that will help our community navigate ongoing fires, quickly recover, and prepare for future threats. My staff and I are here and ready to help with any federal needs related to wildfires, both now and for the long haul.”

Rep. Huffman shared the news that Trinity County was approved for a Fire Management Assistance Grant in response to the Monument Fire. More information on that program can be found here: fema.gov/assistance/public/fire-management-assistance.

Huffman also shared that multiple communities in California’s Second District have received a total of $84,035 through the U.S. Department of Homeland Security’s Assistance to Firefighters Grant Program.

This funding will be used to provide firefighters with improved National Fire Protection Association compliant tools and equipment as well as new state of the art training programs. For more information on the AFG program, please visit fema.gov/grants/preparedness/firefighters/assistance-grants.

The Assistance to Firefighter Grants have been awarded as follows:

- Central Marin Fire Authority: $72,236
- North Sonoma Coast Fire Protection District: $2,448
- County of Sonoma: $6,357
- Arcata Fire District: $2,994

On Monday, August 23, Rep. Huffman sent a letter to President Joe Biden requesting a major disaster declaration in response to multiple wildfires burning through his district.

This would provide a wide range of federal assistance programs for individuals and local government, including funds for both emergency and permanent work.

The Wildfire Resource Guide will be updated if and when more resources for fire recovery become available. Constituents who need assistance or more information about these resources, should contact Huffman’s district offices for individual support.

HCSO creates Unsolved Cases Database for unsolved homicides, missing persons

HUMBOLDT COUNTY SHERIFF’S OFFICE

HUMBOLDT – The Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office is pleased to announce the launch of a new online database of unsolved missing persons and suspected homicide cases.

The HCSO Unsolved Cases Database features information regarding approximately 57 unsolved missing persons and suspected homicide cases dating back to the 1950s held by the HCSO.

The database includes victim photos and information, case summaries and an interactive map plotting the general location of each case.

In addition to the new database, Humboldt County Sheriff William Honsal has appointed two deputy sheriffs to the agency’s newly formed Cold Case Unit.

The deputies are retired peace officers who have decades of investigative experience and will be exclusively reviewing these unsolved cases for new leads.

“Our Cold Case Unit deputies have been in contact with friends and family of the victims in these cases and are working to develop new leads and suspect information,” Sheriff Honsal said. “But we can’t do this without the public’s help and that’s why this new database is crucial. We hope seeing the faces of these victims and reading the summaries of their cases will help jog a memory or some information that might lead to a resolution. We urge the community to review the database and contact us if you have information to share about any of these cases. Even information that may seem insignificant can lead to the next big break on a case.”

A case is considered unsolved and eligible to be placed in this new database if:

- There are no known suspects or suspects have been identified but the case lacks sufficient evidence needed to meet probable cause requirements for prosecution;

The Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office is the primary investigating agency on this case;

The case occurred in 2019 or earlier.

This database does not include all homicides or missing persons cases for Humboldt County and will be updated as new information is received or progress is made on a case.

Some information and/or cases may not be available or listed due to the investigative status of a case.

Anyone with information to share about a case in this database should contact the Sheriff’s Office Crime Tip line at (707) 268-2539, submit information using our Online Crime Tip Form, or email hsotipline@co.humboldt.ca.us.

OPINION

❖ Sign your letter to the Mad River Union with a real name and a city of origin, plus a phone number (which won't be published) for identity verification and send it to opinion@madriverunion.com.

Ours is a world of self-inflicted ills... do we have time for that?

Cyclist catastrophes

I appreciated the letter in the Union, by Tricia Riel Saunders, about rogue cyclists in the Arcata Community Forest. I have harped on City officials for years to resolutely and formally address this clear and present danger. With the exception of a couple of obscure signs recently posted in the Forest, which I appreciate, the City's response has been only to adopt and gravel the illegal trails made by cyclists, and to install a "bike repair station." These "improvements" act as signaling: Cyclists, this forest is yours, have at it.

And they do. Only a small minority of cyclists speed dangerously in the forest, and the safe riders fear and loathe the rogue riders as much as I do. (So do equestrians, who can be severely injured or killed by a horse that is spooked by a missile heading their way.) But there are enough dangerous cyclists (their numbers appear to be increasing) that it doesn't take a prognosticator to predict that someone will soon be seriously injured or even killed by a cyclist.

What's doubly irritating is the arrogance with which rogue cyclists pass others. Doesn't matter who it is — adult, child, dog, horse, fellow cyclist — they don't slow, and if you yell at them they laugh or worse. It's as if other people don't exist, or don't matter—like these guys (and of course it's virtually always guys) live inside their own video game, or they're having a Dungeons and Dragons flashback.

About a month ago I was walking down one of the steep dirt roads in the forest when a cyclist passed on my left with no warning while maintaining a speed of at least 25 miles an hour. He banked a bend ahead of me and disappeared. A minute later up the hill came a family of four: mom, dad, and two boys of about three and five years old. The younger boy was crying, the parents alternately ashen with fear and red with ire. They told me the cyclist had come within inches of one of the children, and that the cyclist didn't slow even after the near disaster. Only luck had saved the child. There was no time for the cyclist to change course, nor for the child to get out of the way. He could have been killed. When they yelled at him he let out a woo-hoo, then blithely continued at high speed around yet another blind turn.

I frequently encounter cyclists such as this guy. Not every time, of course, but enough that I can never fully relax in the forest, which negates one of the most important qualities of the experience. Something has to change.

What will it take to rein in the rogue cyclists? For one, local cycling organizations, whose members have put significant energy into improving trails and securing access to pretty much every segment of the Forest, must get involved. Visual human presence does a lot. Cycling safety volunteers could wear identifiable vests, create large signs, and, on the dirt roads, install and clearly mark speed trenches. The trenches would be outfitted, on the embankment side, with an arced go-around that allows cyclists traveling at safe speeds (and those heading uphill) to avoid the trench. Go too fast and you eat the bank. Most single-track trails (where there is no getting out of the way) should be converted to pedestrian-only, leaving to cyclists a couple of excellent single-track options, including the wonderful Arcata Ridge Trail.

If nothing at all is done to rein in rogue cyclists, then unfortunately the only solution would be to ban bicycles from entering the Community Forest. As someone who frequently rides in the Forest, and has done so since the 1980s, I would feel that loss. But I'd rather lose my right to ride there than see a parent lose a child.

The trashiest of trails

I have hiked and biked many trails and roads in northern Humboldt and have noticed lately, much to my dismay and frankly disgust, how trashy our environment has become. Plastic bags, disposable and recyclable containers, PPE, fast food cups, and those 1 oz. plastic or glass hard alcohol bottles are everywhere.

This seemingly infinite assortment of intentionally and unintentionally discarded junk just keeps piling up and most of us do not seem at all concerned. But, I for one am and, actually, quite disturbed and embarrassed by it.

What does it imply when a community of humans casually defiles their environment and then does almost nothing to clean it up? This is an especially important question since we live by the Pacific Ocean. A lot of this detritus blows out to sea to poison and kill its creatures.

Wake up Humboldt Citizens! We and the rest of our species are destroying Mother Earth in many ways. If we do not correct our transgressions we and many other species will cease to survive.

In response to this, I propose that governmental and private groups organize, collectively and cooperatively, weekly volunteer clean-up projects all over the County.

Sure, every now and then we hear about a beach clean-up. That's great, but the problem has gotten far too immense for occasional efforts to have any significant impact. We need weekly, year round volunteer clean-up events and we need them now!

War is good business

In his farewell address to the nation, President Dwight Eisenhower gave a warning:

"This conjunction of an immense military establishment and a large arms industry is new in the American experience. The total influence — economic, political, even spiritual — is felt in every city, every state-house, every office of the federal government... Our toil, resources and livelihood are all involved; so is the very structure of our society. In the councils of government, we must guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence, whether sought or unsought, by the military-industrial complex. The potential for the disastrous rise of misplaced power exists, and will persist."

At the end of WWII, it was apparent that big arms dealers made a hundreds of millions of dollars. The industrial companies went on to make more and more millions in rebuilding most of Europe. And so it goes, on and on.

Those of us who fought against the draft, and the "Police Action" in Viet Nam, thought we were having an effect on the Political Landscape, when in reality the reason the US got out of Viet Nam is that it was no longer PROFITABLE. Because the North Vietnamese controlled the land our construction companies were not able to reap the rewards in the re-building. The US went into Indochina in 1955 and were forced out in April of 1975, just 7 months shy of 20 years. For our troubles we had 55,000 casualties and thousands of soldiers who returned home never to be the same again. I lost 10% of my high-school graduating class and another 10% to the effects of Napalm and Agent Orange.

Now we are at it again. In theory the U.S. went into Afghanistan in 2001 to find and punish those responsible for the 9/11 attacks. In reality the Bush Presidents traded American Lives for Oil. In 2011, with the death of Osama Bin Laden, the US should have withdrawn from the Middle East. But by that time the construction and logistics companies like Bechtel and Halliburton and the big security firms like Blackwater were running the show. Now that the Afghani tribes have taken over, and destroyed almost all of what was built with US money, it is time to leave.

If there had been 24/7 news coverage, like there is now, the withdrawal from Saigon would have looked exactly as the withdrawal from Kabul looks today. Talking heads all have opinions about what should have been done and what has to be done. But they do not have to make decisions or take the heat. Aren't we lucky?

I do wonder why Americans stayed. They were told a month ago to get out. The only reason I can think of for them to stay is that they are tasked with staying and spying. I do have a few friends who stayed in SE Asia and just faded into the jungle. They went to Laos then up into Cambodia and really did not come home until the 1990s. Is that what is happening now?

Thank you for listening.

Fascists on Facebook

A pro-Trump White supremacist, partisan Republican fan of Fox News from Grover, North Carolina drove his mud-caked pickup truck up onto the sidewalk of the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C. on August 19, 2021 where he parked for five hours.

All the while, he filmed himself on Facebook live-streaming his right-wing political bomb threats against President Biden, Democrats and the residents of D.C., including this pro-Trump terrorist filming his apparently inert, improvised explosive devices all on Facebook for any cross-burning QAnon crackpot to copy.

For some reason, this 49-year-old attempted bomber by the name of Floyd Ray Roseberry seemed to individually personify traitor Trump's political base as it's become known generally: a violent, racist, low-IQ, neo-Confederate numbskull who is completely out of touch with reality and is in desperate need of psychiatric medication, much like the deranged and delusional dimwit Donald Trump himself.

I don't know if it was the brain-damaged sounding, slow Southern drawl with which this White supremacist spoke, or if it was Mr. Roseberry's bulbous shaved head and unnecessarily large pickup truck with unnecessarily large tires, but if one were to hypothetically be able to look up a picture of the average Trump supporter in the dictionary... a photo of Floyd the barber from Mayberry (I mean Grover), North Carolina is surely what one would find.

And as far as Floyd's idiotic insistence live on Facebook that "The South shall rise again," please! I've watched Gone With the Wind too, but if you're actually taking your American history lessons from a pro-Confederacy, pro-slavery cinematic crapfest that was so racist (even for it's time) that it actually portrayed Black folks as happy to be enslaved, well then you're probably too racist and clueless to be cognizant at all.

Speaking of clueless racists, Republican Texas Governor Greg Abbott recently contracted COVID-19 after spending the past several months issuing dictatorial edicts from the Governor's Mansion in Austin against local mask mandates and blocking other necessary public health safety measures, instead of repairing Texas' broken power grid before the upcoming winter.

Hopeless, hapless Gov. Abbott and his pro-Russian Republican comrade from Canada, Rafael "Ted" Cruz, should both plan on making another mid-winter escape to Cancun, Mexico in the midst of what is sure to be another disastrously deadly power grid shutdown season in Texas. Both Governor Greg Abbott and Senator Cancun Cruz will no doubt continue to complain about law schools teaching "critical race theory" as a manufactured distraction from their own personal political corruption and their continuing criminal negligence.

Sincerely,
Jake Pickering

Vaccination works

We always admire your well-reasoned and timely editorials and clever and well-drawn political cartoons, but this time you both get a triple A+. The cartoon was clever, creative, and so "right on". We never weigh in on current events, but this time we felt compelled to commend you both.

The pandemic did not have to happen if everybody had immediately taken the recommended and obviously self-evident precautions to prevent spread and save their own lives. And society could put an end to it by getting vaccinated and continuing with behavioral precautions. After all, a parasite goes extinct without hosts to infect. The sooner we ALL do this, the sooner society can get back to normal.

Smallpox was eliminated world-wide because of mass vaccinations, and polio has been nearly exterminated. Both were threats in our childhood, and we had to get vaccinated before entering first grade. Nobody put up a fuss — we were so thankful for the vaccines.

Again, thank you.

equity arcata offers gratitude, plans for next caring outreach

Dear Arcata, equity arcata's Home Away From Home Working Group would like to thank the community for their generosity and support. As some of you may know, we have hosted physically-distant food and free stuff distributions throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, which have provided free meals, PPE and household supplies to 570 local college students. We could not have done this without the generous contributions of many individuals, businesses and non-profits in our community.

We would first like to take the opportunity to offer our heartfelt thanks to the partners who made our distributions possible with generous grant funding including Coast Central Credit Union, the Humboldt Area Foundation, Humboldt State University, the California Center for Rural Policy at HSU, and the City of Arcata.

We would also like to thank the countless community members and organizations who made free stuff donations, including Black Humboldt, Humboldt Asians & Pacific Islanders in Solidarity and the Humboldt Period Project. Finally, we would like to acknowledge the local food vendors whose delectable meals we were able to distribute, including A Taste of Bim, Taqueria La Barca, Roman's Kitchen and Los Giles Taqueria. Last, but certainly not least, we would also like to thank every volunteer who helped along the way.

After hearing that BIPOC (Black, Indigenous and People of Color) students often felt unwelcome or even unsafe in Arcata, our working group was formed to help build a bridge between college students and the broader community.

We know that college students throughout Humboldt County make our region a more vibrant place and that it is important for us to come together as a community to let them know that we welcome them.

These distributions are one small way that we are able to show we care, and it is our hope that students who attended left knowing they are supported in Arcata.

We are still actively working to host more distributions, and would like to thank the North Coast Co-op for providing grant funding so we can have another one soon.

Due to rising the COVID-19 case count, we have postponed this distribution, but we still wanted to welcome Humboldt State University students to campus this semester.

We will be partnering with the Centers for Academic Excellence at HSU to offer free stuff bags filled with household supplies, school supplies, gift cards to local businesses, and nonperishable food items to students the week of September 13.

We have already received generous donations from the Rotary Club of Arcata Sunrise, Wildberries Marketplace, GHD Inc.'s Black Empowerment, Action, Teamwork & Success (BEATS) employee resource group, and we would like to thank all involved in making that happen.

We look forward to seeing students from HSU, CR and Dell'Arte at our next distribution when it is safer to do so. If community members are interested in making a household supply, school supply, 8 to 16 gigabyte USB flash drive, nonperishable food or gift card donation, a dropoff station will be set up at Arcata City Hall from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. beginning on Tuesday, Sept. 7 through Friday, Sept. 10.

For more information on what type of donations will be accepted, please email sberrueta@cityofarcata.org or call (707) 825-2174.

New book ‘Water and Stone’ is a tonic for trying times

ARCATA – In this fractured world, a new book by award-winning haiku poet and artist Annette Makino provides a dose of Zen wisdom and humor. Water and Stone: Ten Years of Art and Haiku is a full-color collection that spans a decade of Makino’s joyous paintings and evocative poems.

“As I celebrated 10 years as a working artist this year, I decided to publish a book of the best of my art and haiku over that time,” Makino said. “Locals will recognize many beloved Humboldt landscapes like Moonstone Beach, the Klamath River and Redwood National Park, plus native plants and animals.”

Water and Stone features fifty haiga –

artworks combined with haiku – painted with Japanese water-colors and sumi ink. In the first full-length collection of her art and haiku, Makino finds beauty and meaning in the everyday world, be it the rhythm of ocean waves, the bittersweet joys of parenting, or a traumatized rescue dog.

A painting of a foggy College Cove includes this haiku:

fog-shrouded coast

to the view

Sprinkled throughout the collection are 15 haibun – autobiographical prose pieces that include haiku. While deeply personal, these touch on universal themes such as the quest for meaningful work, finding love, raising a family, growing older, and considering our place in the world.

Stephen Addiss, author of The Art of Haiku, has praised the book, saying, “With the publication of Water and Stone, Annette Makino takes her place among the leaders of haiku painting (haiga).”

Makino is an award-winning haiku poet and artist based in Arcata who combines Japanese-inspired paintings and collages with her poems.

Her work has appeared in the leading English-language haiku and haiga journals and anthologies. Makino’s poems have won honors in the Touchstone Awards, the Henderson Haiku Contest, the Brady Senryu Contest, the Porad Haiku Award and the Jane Reichhold International Prize, among others.

Through the art business she founded in 2011, Makino Studios, she shares her haiga and offers prints, greeting cards and calendars of her art.

Published in 2021 by Makino Studios, Water and Stone is perfect bound, 8x10, 124 pages, in color.

It is available at local book stores and other retail outlets.

Super-duper doings in the seaside village

CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocates for Children) is going full steam ahead in their fall campaign, “Super Kid Season,” to raise money, and awareness, for its programs to support local foster youth and to train CASA advocates.

Trinidad Civic Club has participated for several years in the campaign and has been one of Humboldt County’s top teams in fund raising.

When you add money to the CASA cans at Murphy’s Market and Seascape Restaurant, you are adding Trinidad support to an important cause.

There is something else Trinidad neighbors can do. Email

Co-President Jan West at tcc@trinidadcivicclub.org right away if you would like to post a yard sign during the late summer-fall campaign. Once you post a sign, you can take a photo of it with a person or pet and email it to Jan.

Lisa Embree is one of CASA’s court appointed advocates. She wrote: “I moved to Humboldt County in 1997. While I had a good job, I felt like something was missing from my life. Although I don’t have children of my own, I’ve always enjoyed interacting with children of co-workers and friends. I thought volunteering with CASA would be a good fit for me. At that time, I participated in two cases involving young children that were eventually adopted by wonderful families. I remember being touched when I was invited to the actual adoption at the courthouse for one of the children.”

Go to humboldtcasa.org for more information on assisting with programs aiming to make the lives of far too many children in need better.

Walk-in clients are welcome. For an appointment, go to MyTurn.ca.gov. See where they made movies locally with new app

HUMBOLDT-DEL NORTE FILM COMMISSION
HUMBOLDT – The Humboldt-Del Norte Film Commission is excited to announce the launch of their Map of the Movies mobile application.

The new app is based on the popular printed map brochure featuring local filming locations from the past century in Humboldt and Del Norte counties.

Film tourism is one of the film commission’s focuses, as the economic benefit of film tourism can far outweigh the initial spending by film productions in the region. The app is aimed directly at promoting film tourism based on the rich film history of the Redwood Region.

The app features dozens of markers at filming locations with information on each movie, movie poster images and links to IMDB, as well as Youtube for viewing trailers.

Each marker location is marked on the app and allows users to navigate to each using mobile navigation. In addition to the movie markers, the app also includes locations of local accommodations and restaurants to visit while following the map to help find a place to stay or eat along the way.

The app is the first of its kind focusing on local points of interest, coupled with the ability to search, find, and navigate to hotels and food within the app.

Since 2014, the film commission has printed and distributed approximately 70,000 maps to local hotels, museums, and parks. The Map of the Movies has also been available on the film commission’s website as a PDF and as a custom Google Map. With the printed maps, PDF, and views online, the map has been seen over 225,000 times.

Many tourists have extended their stays in the area to explore the map and those who distribute it have said that is the most popular activity brochure handed out. The immense popularity of the map led the film commission to creating the app to make it even easier from locals and tourists alike to access the map and more importantly make it easier to navigate utilizing their mobile phones.

In the future, the film commission plans on updating the app with images of filming locations, movie stills featuring the locations, an audio tour and more. Additional markers will also be added to expand the map as more movies are filmed in the region.

The map’s markers are predominately placed outside, but the commission would like to remind the public to remain socially distant while exploring and wear masks inside at the few locations where the markers are located within buildings.

In addition to these reminders, the commission asks users to obey all COVID protocols required at all business they visit while following the map.

The free app is now available in the Apple iOS app store, with the Android coming to the Google Play store in the next few weeks.

SCULPTED PHOTOGRAPHS Big Lagoon artist Matt Dodge is proud to announce an exhibit of new work at Forbes & Associates – Sarah Corliss at the Trinidad Shopping Center. The images will be on display through Oct. 26. Dodge works in a unique, self-developed technique. Photographs taken in local natural settings are digitally edited then printed on canvas. Each piece is next meticulously hand-colored (using a variety of color media) and hand-carved (using rotary engraving tools and X-Acto knives) until the realized image is revealed. He uses the term “Sculpted Photographs” to describe the one-of-a-kind treasures. To peruse the work of Matt Dodge, please visit MattDodgeImages.com.

DOW'S PRAIRIE GRANGE
DOW'S PRAIRIE –
Dow's Prairie Grange will be sharing its delicious spaghetti sauce, which just won first place at the Humboldt County Fair, with diners who place orders for their Friday, Sept. 10 Drive-thru Spaghetti Dinner.
Dinners are $10 and include spaghetti with either vegetarian marinara or meat sauce, a side salad, garlic bread, and dessert.
Dinners can be picked up between 4 and 6:30 p.m. at the Grange Hall at 3995 Dow's Prairie Rd. in McKinleyville.
To ensure a contact-less pick-up and to minimize waste, please order online on the dowspairiegrange.org website or at 2021-09-10-spaghetti.cheddarup.com.
Money raised from this dinner will continue to support the building improvements and maintenance at the Grange which includes installation of a new ADA ramp with a handicapped parking slab.
Lacie, an Ambassador Girl Scout in Troop 70181 has already begun work on this much-needed project.
Additionally, with schools beginning the new year, the Grange is again collecting non-perishable food to support the McKinleyville High School crisis pantry for at-risk youth.
Pop-top fruit, peanut butter, tuna, granola bars, and canned vegetables are most welcome and can be dropped off at the Grange when dinners are picked up.
These students are also in need of basic hygiene supplies.

Easel up for Redwood Art's third annual Humboldt Open Paint Out

REDWOOD ART ASSOCIATION
HUMBOLDT – The Redwood Art Association invites one and all to the third annual Humboldt Open Paint Out. Artists are invited to paint some of the most dramatic scenery in all of North America.
Back by popular demand, the event runs from Sept. 27 through Oct. 2. The show will remain up for two weeks after the contest until October 15. Awards will be presented on Oct. 2.
Humboldt County offers many vistas including the dramatic coastal cliffs off Scenic Drive in Trinidad or descend trails to capture the crashing waves off of the isolated beaches.
Popular locations to set up an easel would include Patrick's Point, the Eel River Valley, the Arcata Bottoms, the meandering back-roads of Humboldt County, or the magnificent redwood forest.
Businesses can help support this event by choosing to sponsor that will showcase your unique business.
Examples of awards could include but are not limited to architecture, logging, coastal ecology, maritime activity, farming and marijuana, or tailor an award to your specific business.
This year's Judge is Jennifer McChristian, award winning, nationally known plein air artist.
Jennifer frequently has her art featured in Plein-Air magazine, an internationally distributed artists publication that recently had a several-page article about Jennifer and her approach to creating art.
For more on the HOPO event go to info@redwoodart.us. Artists interested in participating in the Humboldt Open Paint Out can enter at redwoodart.us.
